The visitor and / or user of this website recognizes and accepts that all trademarks, trade names or distinctive signs, contents, all industrial and intellectual property rights, and / or any other elements inserted in this website, are the exclusive property of SCIP and / or third parties, who have the exclusive right to use them in business.

In accordance with the foregoing paragraph, users of this website are prohibited from reproducing, copying, assigning, distributing, modifying or any other use, in whole or in part, any of the information and content of this website without the prior written authorization of SCIP.

SCIP is also the owner of the elements that make up the graphic design of its website, the menus, the HTML code, the texts, logos, colour combinations, buttons, images, graphics and any other content of the website, as well as the structure, selection, arrangement and presentation of its contents.

The content of this website may not be reproduced in whole or in part, nor transmitted or recorded by any information retrieval system, in any form or in any medium, unless prior authorization is granted, in writing, by SCIP.

The user is expressly prohibited from using the website for illicit or prohibited purposes or for purposes harmful to third parties, or that may, in any way, damage the brand, image or reputation of SCIP.

Modification and up-dating of the website.

SCIP reserves the right to at any time update, modify or delete the information contained in this website, as well as the notices, policies or any other legal condition of use on this website, with only those published on the website being deemed as ultimately valid and applicable. Said modifications will be communicated to users and / or visitors of the site at the time they occur..

Protection of data of a personal nature.

On this website, personal data is collected through the contact and / or contract forms. All data collected through this website will be treated in accordance with current regulations, at all times and always in accordance with our Privacy Policy that can be viewed here and that users should read and accept before providing their data.

Social networks: SCIP has diverse social networks (Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn) for the dissemination of content related to the company and the telecommunications sector, to provide users with a means of contact with the company, as well as to manage promotions, contests and raffles that may arise. SCIP is responsible for handling the data of its social media followers and contacts.

However, to the extent that the processing of personal data takes place within the framework of social networks the providers of which impose operating rules, SCIP's obligations will be limited to those aspects in which it is free to act. In no case will SCIP extract data from social networks, make profiles of its users or collect additional personal data relating to likes, hobbies or manner of use of social networks, without the express consent of those affected.

Responsibility.

SCIP does not assume any responsibility for damages that may be caused to users' computers or systems due to possible computer viruses that may have been incurred by the user's navigation of the website.

SCIP will not be responsible in the event of service interruptions, delays or malfunctions when they are due to causes beyond the control of SCIP or due to force majeure. Linked sites: From this website users may possibly be redirected to both our own and third party websites. Since SCIP cannot always control the content provided by third parties on their websites, it will not assume any responsibility for such third-party content.

In compliance with the provisions of art. 11 and 16 of the LSSI, SCIP is made available to all users, authorities and security forces, collaborating actively in the withdrawal or blocking of any content that may affect or contravene national, or international legislation, third party rights or morality and public order.

Applicable legislation and jurisdiction.

For the resolution of all disputes or issues relating to this website or any actions undertaken therein, Spanish legislation will apply, to which the parties expressly submit themselves, with the Courts and Tribunals of Manacor (Illes Balears) being competent to resolve all disputes arising from or relating to its use.
